Brief Introduction:

Palmitoyl Dipeptide-18 can suppress the production of excess interleukins, therefore inhibiting unnecessary inappropriate inflammatory responses and glycation damage.

Palmitoyl Dipeptide-18 has been used in beauty products and cosmetics to reduce the cumulative amount of damage that occurs following exposure to UV light, pollution, internal stress, and other pro-inflammatory factors. It is used to counteract skin slackening and to perk up and increase the firmness of the fragile skin area around eyes.

Application and Function:

This peptide sequence is found in proteins of the extracellular matrix such as the α chain of collagen, and it is believed to be released during wounding and inflammation. A feedback stimulation of collagen repair has also been proposed for this peptide, but the main benefit to photoaged skin is believed to be the enhanced delivery of copper. It is found to have the beneficial effects on collagen stimulation.
